

LONG ISLAND PARK INTERPRETIVE PANELS – MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING!

Remember these:

Well, now it looks like this:

Sometime around the end of September, these three panels went missing from Long Island Park, located directly across from St. Leonard's Catholic School. These interpretive works describe the flora and fauna in and around the Rideau River. They were installed in 2014 by the Manotick Culture, Parks and Recreation Association in partnership with City of Ottawa and Rideau Valley Conservation Authority. For details visit <https://www.mcpra.org/longisland>

In the 6 years since the panels were installed, many residents and visitors have enjoyed their informative messages. A quiz was even developed for use by St. Leonard's elementary students and teachers.

To date, the panels have never been vandalized. This recent loss is estimated at $3-4,000.

If you know anything about this mysterious theft, please contact MCPRA President, Anne Robinson at 613-692-3934, or contact Ottawa Police Services...or simply return them, no questions asked!
